City Planners Let Out of Trucking Row

Highway Transport company, ner of a truck terminal at Bay- re highway and Henderson av- ue, Monday night withdrew a re- est to re-establish the terminal's e from before the Menlo Park anning commission.

Commissioners and a representa- ve of the trucking concern agreed, t for widely different reasons, at the city board might have no risdiction over the matter.

Edward M. Berol, 60 Adam way, therton, said that the trucking mpany has been in operation nce 1944 and the city's zoning or- inance did not go into effect until 48; the trucking company oper- es under the public utilities com- ission; homes were built in the ea "after, and with the knowl- dge" that the terminal was already here.

"It is our contention," Berol said, at our employees erred in get- ng a use permit."

Planning Consultant Harold Wise said that the trucking com- pany hadn't paid a business li- ense for operation of the depot since the city's business license or- dinance was adopted in 1949 and that, if the building, a non-con- forming use in the area, has not been used in the past year, its use permit has lapsed and the struc- ture cannot again be used as a terminal.

Members of the audience also en- ered the stormy debate, but main iscussion was between the plan- ing consultant and the trucking mpany representative.

Berol took issue with Wise' stand at non-payment of a business li- nse fee indicated the trucking mpany hadn't operated the term- al, and said the contention did ot constitute legal proof. He ques- oned the right of the city to reg- ate actions of a common carrier.

Wise pointed out the California ater Service company ,also oper- ting under the PUC, pays a busi- ss license.

City Manager C. L. Longsan Tues- y night received public plaudits the city council after Mayor arles P. Burgess read the closing ancial report for the fiscal year ded June 30.

City expenditures had been held % below budget estimates, des- e the fact that an unbudgeted 5 cent salary increase had been ven city employees, Burgess point- out.

The report indicated that while penditures had been held to a to- of $285,156.93, city revenues came $334,868, exceeding estimates by 971.

Due and Payable:

BUSINESS FEES

The City of Menlo Park issued a reminder this week:

Business licenses are due and payable.

Mrs. Florence Surber, secretary to the city manager and collector of the business license fees, said that the fees should be paid as soon as possible, to avoid the last-minute rush.

Payment becomes delinquent after July 31, she said; after that day, a 10 per cent penalty is added to the license charge.

Fees may be paid at the city manager's office, Menlo Park city hall, civic center, during regular business hours.

30 Groups Plan Carnival at Vet Hospital

On August 16, approximately 30 peninsula service organizations will join forces to put on a carnival for the patients at the Veterans' hospital in Menlo Park. The patients will be given free tickets for the various concessions, and the organizations themselves will donate the prizes.

The cooperating groups are — most of them—members of the VAVS, the "Veterans Administration Voluntary Services."

The VAVS, which operates on a national basis with local branches, was born in May, 1946, when the Government and hospital authorities realized that the volunteer help trained during the war should not be allowed to go to waste.

The VAVS advisory committee, which meets at the vets hospital every last Thursday of the month, is comprised of one representative from each of the ofllowing organizations:

GROUPS LISTED

American Gold Star Mothers, Inc., American Legion, American Legion auxiliary, American National Red Cross, American War Mothers, American Women's Voluntary Services, American Veterans of World War II.

Benevolent and Protective Order of the Elks of the U. S., B'nai B'rith, California Federation of Women's clubs, Disabled American Veterans, Disabled American Veterans auxiliary, Degree of Pocahontas, East Palo Alto Grange.

Military Order of the Cootie, National Catholic Community service, National Jewish Welfare board, Women's organizations' division, Military order of the Purple Heart, Ladies auxiliary.

Marine Corps League auxiliary, Navy Mothers club of America, Peninsula Christmas committee, Peninsula Jewish Coordinating committee, Salvation Army, Supreme Cootiette club of America, United Spanish War veterans.

Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S., Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. auxiliary and Women's Relief corps.

The Advisory committee members meet to discuss the hospital's needs, including supplementary material

SPEAKER FULLER

W. P. FULLER III

C of C to Hear W. P. Fuller III

W. P. Fuller III, president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, will be the featured speaker at the Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce's first annual dinner event to be held July 24 at the Pink Horse ranch, Los Altos.

Publicity Chairman Donald L. Button said this week that details of the program, to be climaxed by presentation of an award for Menlo Park's "Citizen of the Year" are now being formulated, and will be announced at a later date. Vance Mape heads the program committee for the $3-a-plate affair.

The Menlo Park chamber's officers for the coming year will be installed at the meeting, at which Outgoing President Michael L. Belangie will turn over his gavel to L. L. Johnston, the organization's president-elect.

Fuller, who is treasurer of W. P. Fuller paint company, is a Peninsula resident, residing in San Mateo.

He is an alumnus of Menlo College, was graduated from Stanford university, class of 1934, and a graduate of Harvard law school.

Tickets to the affair are on sale at the Menlo Park branch of the Bank of America, First National bank, Frane's hardware, Lucelle's, and Joe's barber shop.

Police Have Rua:

SNUG AS A BUG

The person who lost a $56 rug can have it back, if he can identify it at the Menlo Park police station in civic center.

That's where the rug, found Monday evening on a street in Linfield Oaks, was taken by its finder, Elton G. Rossi, real estate salesman who lives at 64 Broadacres road, Atherton.

Police Chief George Potter described the rug—a woven, 6-by-9 foot affair — as brand new. The price tag is still attached to it. That's how the police know how much the rug is worth.

The owner can have it by identifying it.

Cops, Firemen Gladly Report 'Quiet' Fourth

South county police and firemen breathed a sigh of relief this week, and happily described the three day Fourth of July weekend as a "quiet one."

One of the places that wasn't so quiet was Burgess park pool which, happily, was the scene of a good deal of holiday relaxation. City Rec Director Fred Parsons reported that a total of more than 1400 persons paid admissions during the three-day holiday; heaviest attendance was July 6, when 641 persons visited the pool.

The Menlo Park police had a quiet time: They answered three minor complaints about persons lighting illegal firecrackers in the streets, and monitored a few other scattered reports. They only had one minor accident during the weekend: Sunday afternoon at Santa Cruz avenue and El Camino Real.

The Atherton police also had a quiet time. They only had one "minor complaint" during the weekend—they were asked to "do something" about the howling of a black cat.

The Menlo Park Fire District's force, too, remained vigilant but not very active. They answered four calls to grass fires during the period; none were serious and none occurred on the Fourth itself.

There was one minor casualty. Recorder Advertising Manager Bill Neylan was showing his 3-year-old daughter, Linda, how to light sparklers. He burned his hand.

City Water Department Gets Approval

Menlo Park will go into the water business in 30 days — on paper at least.

The city council Tuesday night adopted an ordinance establishing a municipal water department and setting up a five-man water commission. The action will become effective in 30 days after its passage.

Designed primarily to operate the Willow Road Water District when and if that facility is turned over to the city by action of the county Board of Supervisors, the ordinance names the city manager, C. L. Longson, to be Superintendent of the Water Department.

The first section of the ordinance declares:

"There is hereby created a municipal water department, which shall be known as 'Menlo Park Municipal Water Department,' which shall have control of the construction, operation and maintenance of the municipal water system now or hereafter owned and operated by the City of Menlo Park, and which shall control the purchase, distribution and sale of water and the funds derived therefrom."

WITHIN CITY

The Willow Road Water District, which formerly served unincorporated area, now lies almost wholly within the city limits since annexations of the Belle Haven and North Palo Alto areas.

The five members of the water commission are to be appointed by the city council and will regularly serve four-year terms.

Included in the final form of the ordinance is an amendment, suggested at the last regular meeting of the council, which declares:

"Said City Council hereby declares that it is not the intent of said City Council in the enactment of this ordinance that said ordinance shall conflict with the Constitutional provisions reserving certain rights to the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California."

The amendment was included after the California Water Service company declared they felt the ordinance was invalid because it took for the city powers which had been

New Building on Public Land?

City Considers 'Adoption' of Little House Recreation Program

Possibility of including an organized program of recreation for persons over 50 in the city's recreation program and construction of a building to house the facility on a portion of Nealon Park was raised before the city council Tuesday night.

The council took action to study the matter after receipt of a letter from he Peninsula Volunteers, Inc., operators of the Little House at 930 Santa Cruz avenue, and a recommendation from the city recreation commission.

The Peninsula Volunteers requested use of a parcel of city property for the erection of a new building to house Little House activities, which consist of a varied program of recreation for "senior citizens."

Plans submitted call for a lot 175 by 200 feet in size.

FAVOR EXPANSION

Recommendation from the recreation commission favored city efforts to expand the program, with a survey to find the proper location and consider possible use of the southeasterly corner of Nealon Park.

Mayor Charles P. Burgess stated two questions for the council to decide in considering the request:

1. Does the city wish to set aside land for such a purpose?

2. Does the city have such land available?

City Attorney James T. O'Keefe Jr. added another point:

3. Is it legal?

O'Keefe declared, in what he termed a "curbstone opinion" without benefit of study, that the question of the city dedicating public land for "exclusive use" by any one group or agency might be unlawful and that in such circumstances the facilities might have to be open to general public use.

Also, O'Keefe pointed out that any building erected on public land probably would have to be owned by the city.

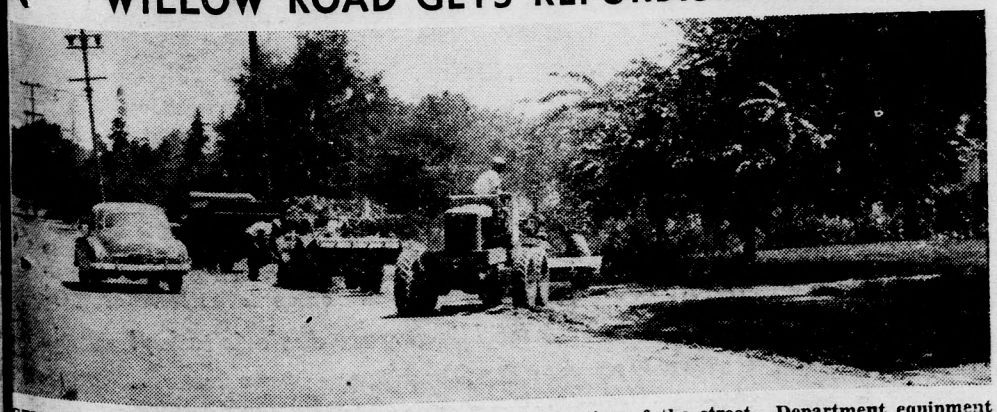

Councilman William Lawson stated that he felt the Peninsula Volunteers probably were prepared to accept such limitations when they resolved to ask for public land and proposed that a study of possible location and how the unit would fit in with the overall proposal for use of Nealon Park should be undertaken at the same time that O'Keefe was directed to study legal angles.

If the Peninsula Volunteers still wished to proceed with the project under the limitations of public ownership as outlined by O'Keefe, he said, some definite action could be taken at this time.

STATION TO OPEN

The Menlo Park Fire District's No. 5 station, 15th avenue and Fair Oaks avenue, should be ready for opening Saturday morning, fire district officers said yesterday. All firehouses are open to the public at all times, they added, inviting citizens to inspect the new facility.

WILLOW ROAD GETS REFURBISHMENT

Poundmaster Routes 'Cheep' Shopper-- Misses with Net

The young sparrow which visited a Santa Cruz avenue clothing store last week probably wasn't looking for a new suit of clothes anyhow, so he probably didn't mind Poundmaster A. F. Petrucci ejecting him.

But the poundmaster didn't get the bird, as the saying goes, without some troubles of his own. It happened this way:

R. W. Brackett and D. H. van de Sande Jr., proprietors of a clothing store at 704 Santa Cruz avenue, were selling clothes at their store July 2, when Brackett heard a "whirring noise." The noise was being made, intermittently, by a small bird which flitted around the store's lights and which showed a preference for some greenery with which the apparel shop is decorated.

The proprietors called for the poundmaster.

The poundmaster, getting the call at the Menlo Park Police station, called for a net.

No net.

Poundmaster repaired to the Palo Alto animal center. No net there, either.

So Petrucci made a net on the spot, using cheesecloth, a length of wire, and a stick. With this device in hand, he proceeded to the apparel shop. The bird was still there.

The chase started, and continued for several store-lengths.

ESCAPE ARTIST

The errant bird proved quite adept at escaping Petrucci's net, but he wasn't quite so gifted when it came to distinguishing between a glass window and an unobstructed opening. He ultimately crashed into one of the former.

Laying down his net, Poundmaster Petrucci donned his role of "animal diagnostician." Picking up the stunned bird, he carefully examined him, coming to the conclusion that the sparrow wasn't badly hurt.

So he took the little feathered fellow outside, and perched him on a bush near the rear of the store.

The bird spent some time thinking the matter over. Then, apparently deciding that he could look over the offerings of the clothing store some other time, if at all, he flew away.

Nobody seems to know where.

his company should confer.

Reinstitution of the terminal's use has been the subject of controversy, with petitions signed by more than 40 area residents on file protesting the use. A letter from the Belle Haven Improvement association, also protesting, was read into the record.

One member of the audience said that a check showed the terminal had had its water disconnected in January of 1949, and had had the water turned on for one day during May of this year. She contended that this proved the building had not been used in the interval.

Berol contended the building had been used, for passive storage.

Henry F. McFeely, 1028 Henderson avenue, said that the building has only been used for storage of records which,during recent months, have been scattered about and allowed to "clutter up" the neighborhood.

He took issue with the truck company's contention that trucks could not use Henderson avenue on account of the street layout, and added that, when the terminal was in operation during the period previous to 1949, it has been "noisy."

SEE DANGER

Use of Henderson and Berkeley avenues, and the possible menace to children playing along them, have been among reasons listed in the protests asking that return of the use permit be denied.

Others who spoke in opposition to the truck company's proposed reopening of the terminal included Mr. and Mrs. William F. Groshart of 1052 Berkeley avenue and M. C. Johnson of 1040 Henderson avenue.

Berol said that he had witnesses in the audience, who had not been called to speak.

Mayor Charles P. Burgess, ex-officio member of the commission, summarized the matter: If the building has been in continuous use, no review by the planning commission is necessary; if not, the commission can't issue a permit.

"It's a matter for the attorneys," he said.

Bay Laurel Issue Settled

After months of bobbing on and off City Council and planning commission agendas, removal of the through connection of Bay Laurel drive from the city's old master plan was finally achieved Tuesday night.

The council unanimously approved the action following its recommendation by the city planners in a 7 to 0 vote.

The planners' earlier vote of 5 to 1 had been declared one vote short of the statutory two-thirds necessary by City Attorney James T. O'Keefe Jr.

As now planned, the easterly stretch of Bay Laurel will end in a cul-de-sac at the edge of the Bulotti property. Plans to create a turn-around at the present deadend of the westerly strip were deferred by the council pending submission of a tentative subdivision map of the Bulotti property.

and personnel, as well as various voluntary activities.

The volunteers — approximately 90 per cent of whom are women — are permitted to be used in Special Services program, in the Physical Medicine Rehabilitation program, in nursing, in social service and in clinical psychology, as well as in supplementary clerk positions. There is also use for volunteer service within the hospital sections.

Special services comprise the library, the chaplaincy, entertainment, recreation and adaptive sports. The physical medicine rehabilitation includes corrective, physical, occupational and educational therapy.

GIVE TIME

Volunteer workers contribute on the average of more than 15,000 man hours a quarter, with approximately 1100 different volunteers representing organizations within the VAVS—although membership in one of the VAVS groups is not required for hospital aides.

The volunteers work under the direct supervision of hospital staff employees at all times and serve in only supplementary positions.

To prepare the service volunteers for their work, two two-day orientation and indoctrination courses are held each year—one in February and one in September. Members who work on a regular schedule basis are required to take the course, even though they may have begun their duties several months prior to the class. Workers are put on probation for a definite length of time.

Members of the regular hospital staff have found that volunteer workers not only aid in their specified duties, but help the doctors in gauging patients' reactions to "outsiders" as well as staff workers.

WARD PARTIES

At least one party every month for every ward is sponsored by the VAVS organizations. Volunteer activities—such as the ward parties—are based upon medical prescription or upon medical approval. Volunteer hours at the hospital begin at 8:30 a. m. and continue until 9:30 p. m. —during this time many service workers from many different organizations are represented in as many different positions throughout the hospital grounds and buildings.

Volunteer service does not end with actual scheduled work within the hospital walls. Many groups provide intermittent entertainment, and those with branches further away concentrate their efforts on supplying material, rather than personnel.

Six counties altogether are represented by the VAVS bodies—San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Monterey and San Benito. And many other groups, not on the advisory board, contribute time, talent and resources—such as the Musicians' union, the Treasure Island Navy band, the Girl Scouts, who have baked cookies for the canteen there.

Mayor Defends City's Stand On Library

Mayor Charles P. Burgess Tuesday night explained why the city had not included plans for a municipal public library in its proposed new master plan.

The county free library system has agreed, he pointed out, to hire a trained librarian to staff the Menlo Park branch library, and the city has set up a $1000 fund with which to purchase reference books for the branch.

The council felt, he declared, that it should first be ascertained how much improvement could be achieved in the county service before the city embarked on the expensive project of establishing its own library.

Edwin A. Gross, in a letter to the Menlo Park planning commission this week took planners to task for ignoring the need for a city library in their master plan proposals for the city's future recreation.

Gross gave his stand: "I oppose the adoption of any master plan that does not include a municipal library on the grounds that it is deficient, short-sighted and—from my point of view, at least—immoral."

The letter was to have been read at the planning commission's hearing on recreation and parks last Monday night. However, the commission dispensed with the reading of written communications at its hearing, in order, apparently, to save time.

Gross' letter also reviewed the progress of his drive, during the past 16 months, to "convince the city council of our need for a library."

He also added that, in a telephone conversation with Planning Consultant Harold F. Wise, he was told the library was "an honest omission"

Panel Named for Hynes Replacement

Jack H. Denton, 576 Sacramento street, East Palo Alto, has been named chairman of a committee selected to name a replacement for Clarence P. Hynes, recently resigned member of the Ravenswood School District board of trustees.

Serving with Denton on the five-person panel will be Frank Reece and Mrs. Warren Pingree, recently re-elected to the posts of chairman and clerk, respectively, of the district's board of trustees.

Also serving will be Dr. Kenneth Brown, representing the Suburban park portion of the school district and Lieutenant Colonel Joseph L. Connolly, b40 Arlington way, Menlo Oaks area.

The committee was named last week.

Hynes resigned from the Ravenswood school agency June 19.

exclusively granted to the Public Utilities Commission.

After hearing the amendment proposed at the meeting on June 24, Attorney Owen Jameson, representing the company, declared that inclusion of the phrase would not necessarily legalize the ordinance in the eyes of the company. The water company would reserve the right, he said, to fight the matter in court if steps ever should be taken to control the company's operations in a manner that the company felt was in violation of state law.

C of C Queries Membership On New Projects

The Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce this week queried its membership on "what project should the chamber work on during 1952-53?"

Calling for the listing, Chamber Secretary - Manager Mrs. Bonnie Heard observed in a letter which accompanied the questionnaire,

"Our city can be proud of its record of development. Many community projects and needs have been started and fulfilled. More are in the process of being accomplished, while others are on the agenda as unfinished business.

"There are, however, many important thoughts in the minds of Menlo Park business leaders which should find expression for community good through your Chamber of Commerce."

The questionnaire has space for the listing of three projects by the chamber member to which it is sent and also asks each member to list the committee or committees on which he would most like to serve during the coming year.

Sanitary District Trustees Call City Heads to Meeting

Menlo Park and Atherton civic officials have been invited to attend the Menlo Park Sanitary district board of trustees' meeting of July 14, to hear discussion of the possibility of raising funds to alleviate overloaded sewers by boosting the district's tax rate.

The invitations were issued in the wake of a special meeting last week, at which District Superintendent Cedric Webster told board members that a bypass line would not take enough of the "load" off the Atherton avenue sewer to eliminate possible flooding next winter.

The Atherton avenue line, as well as a main outfall sewer extending along Middle avenue in Menlo Park, are termed inadequate by the district's trustees. Both would have been replaced with larger mains had a bond issue been passed by district voters last April. The bond issue was turned down.

Dr. Lawrence Cook, secretary of the district board, explained this week that it is the board's policy, in keeping with its interpretation of the intention of the law, to finance construction of permanent improvements through bond issues and to finance maintenance operations through tax monies.

HOLDING LINE

The civic officials are being invited to the July 14 session because, Dr. Cook pointed out, the sanitary district had indicated it would "hold the line," tax-wise, at a meeting of representatives of all area tax-supported agencies earlier this year.

The sanitary district called a bond issue election in April, Dr. Cook recalled. Had that election been passed by the voters, the sewers would have been constructed with the $300,000 made available thereby.

A group of Atherton avenue residents from the area near Odell place, where flooding occurred last winter, was present at last week's meeting. They asked that the tax rate be raised to allow the start of construction.

District officials pointed out to them that the amount of sewage which overflowed into the street during last winter's heaviest rains was estimated at 800,000 gallons per day; if the contemplated temporary bypass were put in, it would only be able to carry about 200,000 gallons per day, and would therefore be of little help.

The trustees also recalled their suggestion that excess sewage could be pumped into the Atherton drainage canal, when winter rains were at their peak; this also met with opposition of those present.

New Post Created At Sunset HQ

Creation of the position of promotion manager and the appointment to that post of Thomas W. Ohliger has been announced by L. W. Lane, president of Lane Publishing company, publishers of Sunset magazine and Sunset books, here.

Promotion of Sunset activities in the field of publicity and general business will be handled by Ohliger, who has been a member of the magazine's staff since 1947.

Mr. Ohliger will make his headquarters at the Menlo Park home of Sunset magazine and Sunset books. A lifetime Peninsula resident, he resides in Palo Alto.

Drivers' Licenses Are Suspended

Drivers' licenses of three area motorists were suspended as the result of recent court actions, the weekly report of the California department of motor vehicles says, also listing the name og a motorist whose license, previously suspended, has been reinstated.

Those whose driving permits were "lifted" include Clarence Cletus Duckett, 1318 Chico street; Lawrence Geary McCall, 1027 Peggy lane, Menlo Park, and Robert Lee, 2037 Bayshore highway, East Palo Alto.

The driver's license of Gordon L. Baker, 560 Berkeley avenue, previously suspended, was reinstated.

Belle Haven Group Installs Officers

Officers of the Belle Haven Improvement association were installed at a meeting last week at Belle Haven school, but adoption of a new constitution for the organization was deferred owing to the press of other business.

Officers installed included Henry Jacquemet, 1340 Sevier avenue, president; Thomas Mullen, 1303 Windermere avenue, vice president and Margaret Schmidt, 1144 Berkeley avenue, secretary.

Adoption of the proposed new constitution may take place at a special meeting in the near future. Under terms of the organization's present constitution, meetings are held every three months.

The proposed constitution, which was read at last week's meeting, calls for more officers and for monthly meetings, as well as "streamlined" procedure, according to Mrs. William Arthur, a member of the association.

Passage of the new basic writ was deferred as 200 members of the association, present at the meeting, heard City Planning Consultant H. F. Wise explain phases of the city's proposed master plan, as they affect the Belle Haven area.

'Mom' Stern Recovering From Car Accident

Mary K. ("Mom") Stern is now resting as easily as she can with a broken collar bone, according to Dr. Herbert Browne, the physician who treated her following her automobile accident early Monday.

"Mom," beloved founder of the "Haven" at the veterans' hospital and tireless worker for the Menlo Park armed forces center, will remain for a few days at the Palo Alto hospital before her return home to Mountain View. It will be some weeks before "Mom" will be back on the job at vets' hospital, her physician says.

The accident in which "Mom" was injured, took place at O'Connor street and Euclid avenue, in East Palo Alto. The other driver, Mrs. H. J. Denton, was uninjured when the two cars collided, but "Mom's" automobile swerved through the front yard of a corner house, resulting in her broken bone and minor abrasions.

MAHS Grad Wins Art Award

Peter Caballero of 199 Spruce avenue in Menlo Park, has been named as one of the winners in the 1952-1953 scholarship award contest of the California College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland.

Dr. Spencer Macky, president of the college, wrote to Caballero: "This award has been made because of your excellent work in a competition where the average work submitted was exceptionally good."

Caballero was graduated from Menlo-Atherton high school in June. His art instructor in high school was D. I. Umberger.

While in high school, Caballero won a Bank of America achievement award in art. He hopes to be a fashion illustrator after he completes his education at the College of Arts and Crafts.

School Board Tangles With Budget Monday

The budget in general and tax rates and school cafeterias in particular will be the subjects under fire Monday night at the regular monthly meeting of the Menlo Park School District board of trustees.

If the district's exact evaluation is released by the county assessor's office by that date, the budget will receive a thorough airing, because two of the trustees intend to cut the tax rate even if it means eliminating two proposed school cafeterias.

GRANT APPROVAL

City Planning Commissioners on Monday night approved, for purposes of architectural control, the issuance of a use permit for a contractor's yard to be operated by Roy McNew at the rear of a lot facing Hamilton avenue at Sevier avenue, conditional on the construction of a 7-foot board fence to conceal the yard's operations.

Kiwanis to Hear Can Co. Official

J. Roger Deas, American Can company executive, will be guest speaker at the Menlo Park Kiwanis club luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Marie Antoinette hotel.

Deas will talk on "California's Strength—Where Does It Lie?"

A past president of the California Junior Chamber of Commerce, Deas is a well known interpreter of the many benefits provided the state by canning and associated industries. He is a former secretary to Governor Earl Warren.

Deas was secretary of the San Francisco Planning Commission from 1944 to 1948 and served as associate consultant to the U. S. delegation to the United Nations Founding Convention in 1945.

C of C 'Roundup' Crew Meets Friday

Minions of the Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce's "Membership Roundup Crew" will meet at Searles restaurant at 8:15 p. m. tomorrow, for an orientation and "fun" session to precede their drive for 400 new initiates.

Wallace Ott, chairman of the roundup team, yesterday issued a last-minute call for crew volunteers. The group hopes to have 40 members with which to start their drive, days of which will be July 15, 16 and 17.

Tomorrow night's meeting will feature "playlets" acted by members of the crew; selection of teammates for those "hitting the sawdust trail" for the C of C, selection of names of prospects, prizes and surprises.

The serious part of the session will feature an orientation talk, to acquaint members fully with the chamber's objectives and purposes.

City Approves $1500 Budget Request For Chamber of Commerce 'Advertising'

Menlo Park's Chamber of Commerce may be able to call on the city for up to $1500 worth of help in publicizing the city's advantages during the next fiscal year.

The City Council Tuesday night agreed to recommend a budgeted sum in that amount to be made available for Chamber of Commerce use for specific advertising projects.

Request that the money be budgeted was made in a letter from new Chamber of Commerce President L. L. Johnston.

Councilman Michael L. Belangie, former president of the Chamber, explained that it was unlikely the entire sum would be used. "The $1500 is the outside limit of what the Chamber expects may be needed," he said, "but having it set up in the budget would enable the Chamber to present bills to the council for approval as the need arises."

ASKS JUSTIFICATION

Councilman George Ford questioned how the expenditure could be justified on the basis of benefit to the whole community.

ayor Charles P. Burgess pointed out that the expenditure—roughly one-half of one per cent of the city's proposed budget, he said—could increase business for the city and that a sound business community benefits the city as a whole.

He also pointed out that it is justified by custom inasmuch as other cities on the Peninsula, and the county as well, operate on a similar basis.

The council directed City Attorney James T. O'Keefe Jr. to study legal aspects of the matter and to draw up a form of contract between the Chamber an dthe city under which the money might be made available.

Planners Table Rezoning Request

A request by Fred and Herbert Mills, asking rezoning of property owned by them from single-family residential to "professional" zoning was tabled by the city planning commission this week, pending clarification of words of the city's zoning ordinance.

The lots affected face the east side of the 300 block of Middlefield road.

The commissioners decided to table the proposed rezoning, after residents of the area asked what was meant, in the law, by the term "professional."

Mayor Charles P. Burgess, ex-officio member of the commission, pointed out that the "professional" classification sought, similar to that governing the Linfield Oaks professional zone across Middlefield road from the Mills' property, has always been interpreted to mean administrative-type structures and businesses.

Residents argued that it could be interpreted to mean veterinarians also.

Planners pointed out that two acres was the minimum lot size, and that 40 per cent ground coverage by buildings was the maximum allowed in the zone; they added that use permits are called for before any enterprise can be started in the area.

"Our interpretation has always been toward the type of 'professional' offices now in Linfield Oaks, such as Sunset magazine and Magna Engineering company offices," Burgess said. "However, I think the wording of the city's proposed ordinance should be studied to avoid possible misinterpretation."

WHO BENEFITS?

The question was raised Tuesday night at the city council meeting:

Can expenditure of city funds for advertising the city's advantages be justified?

It was raised by request of the Chamber of Commerce of Menlo Park for budgeting of $1500 for such purposes during the coming fiscal year.

Such advertising, Councilman George Ford said, would obviously benefit the city's business district, but would it be worthwhile to the residents who are not in business here?

Our answer is emphatically, "Yes".

But another question is raised by Ford's query. That question is, "What is the Chamber of Commerce and for whom is it working?"

Our answer to that is that it is working for the benefit of the community as a whole, not just for the local merchants.

The expenditure of $1500 a year—about one-half of one per cent of the city's budget—to advertise the City of Menlo Park is going to spread the fame of this community as a fine place to live.

If more persons are sold on the advantages of living in Menlo Park, values of property in the city are going to be raised. That is simple application of the old law of supply and demand.

If property values are raised, every property owner in the city will benefit directly. And our recent master plan survey showed that four out of five families here own their homes. Thus every taxpayer in the city, not just the merchants, will profit from such "spreading of the word."

On the question of what is the Chamber and for whom is it working, one answer is to be found in the Chamber's list of committees.

This includes Area Beautification, Civic, Fire Prevention, Historical, Playgrounds and Recreation, Traffic and Safety, and Transportation. Certainly none of these activities can be construed as primarily for the benefit of the city's merchants.

The mere fact that the Chamber has a special committee designated the Merchants committee is indication that business activity is only one interest of the organization.

The business district of a community carries the largest single portion of the community's load, and for this reason every citizen benefits from a prosperous commercial district.

But the welfare of both business and residential areas of the city is inextricably intertwined.

The Chamber of Commerce of Menlo Park is interested in the welfare of the community as a whole and must constantly remember that if it is to continue as an effective part of community life.

True, almost all of the Chamber's active support comes from persons in business here. But every resident has a stake in the Chamber's operation, and membership in the Chamber is open to any individual, whether he is in business in the community or whether he just hangs his hat here.

—o—

In Chicago they spend $350,000 to air-condition a convention hall, and still the poor delegates "sweat it out".

It's a hot fight, but the weather—heat and humidity—have as much to do with discomfort as the issues.

To us, it just emphasizes another reason why Menlo Park is a good place to live.

RE-APPOINTED

Lyle D. Moore, 951 College avenue, Tuesday night was re-appointed to the city's personnel board for a four-year term.

"Not only is he my best friend, but he also helps me with the monthly statements."

Your City's Business

Personnel Needs Outlined

By MAYOR CHAS. P. BURGESS

The city's budget this year reflects the increasing personnel needs of a rapidly growing community.

Early last July, North Palo Alto became a part of Menlo Park, requiring service, but was not subject to city property taxes until this fiscal year. In addition, our new building continued at a high rate last year and thus further increased the population required to be serviced.

The new personnel provided in this year's budget includes a part-time stenographer to aid in typing the city clerk's records and other work. Menlo Park has grown ten-fold in 20 years, yet the city clerk's office continued to function with only one person. The work has become so voluminous that assistance is now essential.

The budget also contemplates the employment of an administrative assistant to the city manager who will also act as the staff of the planning commission.

The budget contemplates retaining the services of Harold Wise as consultant and investigator for the planning commission until Dec. 31, when the master plan hearings before the commission and the council should be completed.

However, the work of the planning commission is now so heavy and complex that a permanent employee must be retained to do work for the commission, whose membership is composed of citizens serving gratis.

The city manager becomes bogged down in a mass of detail from time to time, and the council believes the cost of an assistant dividing his time with the planning commission will be money well spent.

The budget contemplates the addition of two full-time police officers and one school crossing officer. A position of police lieutenant will be created to be filled from the department. The police force will then consist of a chief, a lieutenant, three sergeants, 14 full-time officers, three school crossing officers and a stenographer-clerk.

It used to be rule-of-thumb that there should be one member of the police force for each one thousand of population. (Lately there has been some talk about one to 500). Our fulltime force of 19 will then be about two men below what our 22,000 population might entitle us to consider normal. However, we believe the proposed personnel to be fully adequate to our needs.

The street department will add an equipment operator and laborer, bringing its personnel to nine. A gardener will be added to the park department, raising its total employees to five full-time workers and one for six months of the year.

There will be a total of 44 full-time and nine part-time city employees in this coming fiscal year, exclusive of the part-time school ground recreation assistants and dance and craft instructors.

Area East of Middlefield

Heavy Opposition Forecast as Planners Prepare for Next Master Plan Hearing

What city planners Harold F. Wise and Simon Eisner call "the most drastic changes in land use areas proposed by the master plan," but which are based on "overwhelming economic reasons for these recommendations," will be the subject Monday night at the planning commission's third, and possibly the most heated hearing on the plan.

Concisely, this section of the proposed master plan will deal with the Willow road, North Palo Alto area, Belle Haven and other territory east of Middlefield road.

The city planners propose a reduction of commercial zoning on Willow road between Middlefield road and the Bayshore highway by 52 per cent; that commercial zoning flanking the Bayshore and Willow east of Bayshore be eliminated entirely, and recommend a compact neighborhood shopping center for the Belle Haven area to be located in an area bounded by Market place, Bieber avenue, Plumas avenue and Hamilton avenue.

SUPPORTS OPPOSITION

Financial support of opposition to the changes proposed east of Bayshore on Willow road already have been advanced by Vance M. Brown, a building contractor who owns large parcels of land on the north side of Willow, east of Bayshore.

Brown told the Recorder yesterday that, "the commission has not given proper consideration to the total area," and that "to treat the Willow strip independently from other areas is not good planning."

Brown plans to present his arguments at Monday's meeting and added that "either justice will be done by the planning commission and city council or by the courts, and if the latter is necessary, planning in Menlo Park will be tied up for years to come."

To date the planners have received 58 letters protesting various phases of the master plan and "about 40" of these deal with the area to be discussed at Monday's meeting.

BASE OF DECISIONS

In studying the changes to be made along Willow road, the city planners based some of their decisions upon facts compiled by Urban Land Institute and the International City Managers association.

The former found that long string street types of business do not provide a good return income on the investment as a whole. The city managers found it better to group shops together in one unit on one side of the street rather than string them out on both sides.

The commission concluded it was still possible to adjust the "string" zoning pattern along Willow road by grouping commercial zoning on one side of the street. This plan would wipe out all commercial zoning along Willow road east of Bayshore.

They point out that although this land has been available for commercial use for more than 25 years, relatively little has been developed commercially. What has developed, the planners conclude, is "clustered, compact and good commercial development."

VARIED OPINIONS

What hasn't developed, the planners say, hasn't because no businessman would take the economic risk involved.

However, since the reduction in commercial land will involve a cut of 260,000 square feet, the planners feel that the reduction "must be examined to determine whether it is too severe, whether it will seriously curtail services to the neighborhood or jeopardize business."

The "overwhelming economic reasons" for the reductions in commercial land use are listed by the planners as based on the potential population of the areas immediately surrounding the "neighborhood shopping" groups as this number is related to the "average income" and spending power of those families.

The amount of land to be allowed commercial zoning is then determined by the approximate amount per square foot the average business would have to earn per year to realize a good return on the investment.

In the Belle Haven area the present zoning would need $26,352,000 in annual sales to support a fully developed shopping area, but allowing a 50 per cent increase in the spending, the planners do not think families there will spend more than $799,500.

They also conclude that commercial zoning along Bayshore would require an additional $45,514,000 a year from Belle Haven residents to support it. They feel Belle Haven would have to alone support this strip because it would be fenced off from highway business if Bayshore is widened as a freeway.

Using the relation between spending power of an area and the square feet allowed for business, the master planners feel the commercial land is overzoned by 5680 per cent.

The meeting will begin at 8 p. m. in the city council chambers at the civic center.

Held Over:

EAST MP REQUESTS

Monday night's hearing on the proposed master plan, as it affects the area east of Middlefield road, will feature discussion of several matters continued over from this week's regular meeting of the planning commission.

These include:

Discussion on the request by Charles Angelo for a use permit which would allow him to engage in wholesale and retail fruits and vegetable business at 851 Hamilton avenue;

The request for a use permit by R. J. O'Meara, for construction of a service station at Willow road and Hetch Hetchy way;

Request by S. and V. Tomasena, asking that they be permitted to operate a beauty parlor as a home occupation at 216 O'Keefe street;

Request of the Bay Park Builders that they be allowed to construct a duplex at Beiber way and Mraket place, Belle Haven.

The matters were set over because, commissioners explained, they felt discussion of the master plan was pertinent to them. O'Meara's and Bay Park Builders' requests are in conflict with provisions of the plan; the Tomasenas' request was protested from the floor by a representative of the North Palo Alto residents' association.

Blood Drive Results Told

Fifty-nine persons willing to donate their blood to the Sequoia area Red Cross signed up during the Fourth of July festivities in Redwood City. The drive was sponsored jointly by the Palo Alto unit of the Junier League of San Francisco and the Sequoia chapter of the American Red Cross.

The Red Cross group took part in the big parade with an entry to dramatize the current need for blood. While at the same time, a corps of League volunteers canvassed the crowds for names of would-be donors, and manned signup booths at key spots along the parade route.

Names of the out-of-town contributors were also taken to be forwarded to their own Red Cross chapters.

Mrs. James L. Brainerd, Palo Alto League chairman, stated that her unit, which has been assisting the local Red Cross chapters in blood procurement for some time now, will concentrate this year on several

Nurses Take Action

Action taken at the recent biennial convention of nurses in Atlantic City, represented by San Mateo county, included the merger of four national nursing groups into two streamlined ones — the American Nurses' association and the National League for Nursing.

Also on the convention's agenda were the call for a 40-hour week without pay reduction, adoption of a platform comprising continuing support of the UN and the World Health organization, and a reaffirmed pledge to provide improved nursing care for patients.

Anna Martini's Report

(Ed note—This is the second article on Girls' State in a series of two. Anna Martini, who came home an "assemblyman" from her district, was sponsored to Sacramento by the East Palo Alto American Legion auxiliary.)

By ANNA MARTINI

California Girls' State is a practical course in state government offered by the American Legion auxiliary. The girls who participate come from high schools in every part of California. These girls take an active part in the city, county and state government of the mythical state, Girls' State.

One of the most important points of this program is the formation of political parties. Since California has only two powerful parties, the Girls' Staters divide into two parties also, this year called the "Whigs" and the "Tories."

Each party has a steering committee, elected by the party members to plan the campaign. A platform committee is also elected. This committee forms the party platform

ANNA MARTINI

After the platform is decided, each party chooses its candidate by means of a primary ballcting. The eligible nominees are then voted upon by the party members.

As soon as the candidates are definitely chosen, the steering committee goes to work to make them well-known among the Girls' Staters. Posters and banners are made, and badges issued to anyone who wants to wear one. The candidates take an active part in their campaign, too, often making their own posters and buttons.

RALLY 'ROUND

Before the general election, each party stages a parade and rally. The party symbols are displayed and the candidates are carried on floats. The parade lasts for several blocks, and when the park is at last reached, the candidates make their important speeches. After this, the girls spend the rest of the day in the park, eating and playing games.

The general election is an exciting event. In Girls' State, the election resembles the California State polling in almost every way, from the election boards in the precincts to the Secretary of State. However, as there were not enough rubber

Clifford Walkers Name Baby Daughter

"Leslie Arlene" is the name chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Walker for their first daughter, who was born last month in Santa Barbara, where Clifford is attending school.

The new Miss Walker, who is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Walker of 934 Roble avenue, was named in part, after David Leslie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Collin Leslie of 1051 El Camino Real, who was one of Clifford's comrades-in-arms with the Marine corps in Korea.

The child's mother was formerly of Redwood City. The father, a student at Santa Barbara college prior to being called to duty in July of 1950, has returned there to complete his studies to become a history teacher. He was discharged from active service last August.

He and the baby's namesake served together in the far east for more than 13 months.

Joan Sturgess, Ronald Hayes To Wed Sun.

On Sunday Joan Dorthea Sturgess and Ronald Grimwood Hayes, who announced their engagement last Thursday, will be married at the Christ church in Los Altos. Joan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sturgess of San Jose, has been living in Menlo Park with her aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Donald McFarlane.

The bridegroom-elect, a class of '52 graduate from Stanford university, is the son of Sam Hayes, Hollywood, and Mrs. Marion Hayes Cain of San Anselmo. Upon his graduation, Ronnie received a commission as second lieutenant in the marine corps. He and his future wife will travel to Quantico, Virginia after the marriage, where they will propaby remain until January.

The bride-to-be attended St. Stephen's college in England and San Jose state college, and has, until now, been employed at a doctor's office in the Menlo Park area. She has three sisters, Anne, Susan and Margaret.

The young couple met last November while Ronnie was working in the Union "Cellar" at Stanford. Their engagement announcement was disclosed last week to friends of the bridegroom-elect's mother, when she honored the two at a party in her San Anselmo home.

Auxiliary Lays Carnival Plans

A full-dress horse show, under the chairmanship of Mrs. James Gordon Knapp, will open the August 23 carnival at the Menlo Circus club, sponsored annually by the Woodside-Atherton junior auxiliary to the Stanford convalescent home. The show is scheduled to start at 12 noon.

Mrs. Douglas Carver, the auxiliary's overall chairman for the day, has announced the "after five" after horse show activities to be set against a background of Rio revelry.

At 5:30, while guests are cooling off with cocktails, Miguelito Valdez will offer his own Latn-style entertainment. And once again, for the women, Howard Greer will be on hand to exhibit his fall fashion collection.

Following the "cocktail hour," dinner will be served, and dance music provided by Ray Hackett's orchestra.

At 5 p. m. the various games and concession booths will open, and displays from merchants will be featured in cabanas placed around the club swimming pool.

Committeewomen in charge of the horse show are Mrs. Knapp, head; Gloria Franceschini, secretary; Mrs. Dudley Bennett, assistant secretary; Mrs. James Coonan and Mrs. Furber Libbey, publicity; Mrs. Albert Russell, gate; Mrs. Heber Tilden, trophies; Emmet Cashin and W. Mackall Jason, co-managers.

Judges for the equine exhibition will be Lester Stirling of Salinas, George Milias of Gilroy, and Buford Waller of Sun Valley, California. Lonnie McNally will emcee the show, and Charles Broad will act as ringmaster.

Mrs. Alden Ames, Mrs. Peter Monteith and Mrs. Gordon Weber members of the decorating committee, will create the confetti-conglomorate gay and glorious mood of a Rio "Mardi Gras."

Mrs. Barnitz Plans Hawaiian Vacation

Mrs. Blair M. Barnitz and her sister are planning a three weeks' vacation in Honolulu, with their fingers crossed that the Lurline will set sail on the 21st.

Mrs. Barnitz had returned to her Menlo Park home last weekend from a jaunt through Southern California and to Phoenix, Arizona. Her son, David, will remain in the Southland for an additional couple of weeks.

THE LADIES CLUB of St. Francis church has invited the public to their whist party tonight at 8 p. m. in the American Legion hall, 2398 University avenue, East Palo Alto.

Everybody is going some place, seems like. Lynn Osmond was with friends over the BIG 4th weekend at the Tahoe area, and came back almost charcoal — toasted golden black!

For a short, three-week vacation a person could always take to the eastern sector of our country. That is precisely what Jack Demorest is doing—taking a quick trip back to Detroit, Michigan, to visit relatives and friends before he leaves for the family's ranch in Idaho, where he will become a "cowpoke" for the remainder of the summer vacation.

• • • •

Just heard that Europe is the destination of a brother-sister combination 'round these parts. The lucky travelers are Kress and Noree Cole. Kress is a Stanford student and in the fall Noree will join the ranks of freshmen at college.

• • • •

Of course, the weekend of the 4th couldn't be complete without a trip by someone to Santa Cruz. Over the extended holidays, Brad Crandall, Bob Colley and Stan Speigle took to the ocean city where they had a "terrific time."

• • • •

Disappointment plus! Last weekend two Menlo Park boys were very positive that they would win not second but first place in the Redwood City parade. The two, Dave Roberts and Jim O'Neil, bought an old fashioned wagon and fixed it all up with hay, etc. The day of the parade, however, they discovered with great sorrow that the horse didn't fit the yoke and the yoke didn't fit the wagon—so there you have it, folks—who knows? Maybe it would have received first!

• • • •

At last! A party—held at the home of Ed Covolo. Purpose of the shindig was to show the kids a sneak preview of the color movies which were taken during Senior Week and a chance for the Seniors to get their Yearbooks signed. Present were: Betty Babcock, Pat Conine, Lynn Colebourn, Jeanne Rego, Jackie Abarr, Darlene Stadler, Lorraine Gonzales, Yvonne Sexton, Rose Corradi, Barry Young, Tom Crane, Mickey Singer, George Frederic, Barbara Brown, John Farrell, Bob Covolo, Ted Latinen, Al Wagner. Loads of fun!

• • • •

Just got word that we have two VERY ambitious little ladies in this town. They are recent graduates of M-A. As soon as they completed the long march to their diplomas, they headed for some of the southern scenic spots of our country. Yvonne Sexton and Lorraine Gonzales boarded the train and off they went.

Some of the places they visited while traveling through the states of California, Nevada, Arizona and Utah were Las Vegas, Boulder Dam, Zion National Park, Painted Desert and the Mohave Desert. Sounds like a crowded schedule, but bet they had fun!

EPA Card Party Set For Saturday Night

The third in a series of card parties sponsored by the East Palo Alto Women's club, will be held Saturday night at 7:30 p. m. in the Bell street Recreation center. Funds from the affair will go toward buying the lot adjoining the Rec facility.

Tables will be set aside for whist, bridge and canasta, and refreshments will be served during the evening. Hostesses for the card sessions are Mrs. D. C. Lange, Mrs. James Watkins, Mrs. Marie Brown, Mrs. L. C. Bennett, Mrs. Clara Lamareaux, Mrs. Margaret Fitzgerald, Mrs. Bertha Hannah, Mrs. J. T. Withgitt and Mrs. Pfeffer.

KOPPS HAVE GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Kopp of Menlo Park were hosts to houseguests from Oklahoma last week. The westward travelers, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brewer and Mr. and Mrs. S. Bowney, with their two children, had come to California over the "deep" southwestern route, and left for Oklahoma Monday through Colorado and "up farther" states.

EPA Wardrobe Needs Space!

The East Palo Alto Wardrobe exchange, a facility sponsored by Belle Haven, Ravenswood and Willow P-TA's, is looking for a new home. Due to unforeseen circumstances, the temporary storage place at 492 Gilbert street will not be available for their use in fall, when the Wardrobe plans to re-open.

The plan for an exchange of outgrown, but not yet outworn clothing, was first suggested in fall 1948, and by May 1949 the Wardrobe had found a home in a room of the Hatchery building, 2351 University avenue.

During the summer of 1950 the facility was moved to the rear of the Simon property at 831 Weeks street, where it remained until summer this year. Committeewomen for the tri-P-TA exchange look forward to the day when their "baby" will have a permanent location, perhaps in a room of Ravenswood school.

But until that time, a fairly presentable shack, room, playhouse or any other place where clothes may be stored and persons may come to buy, will be most welcome.

Overall chairman for the EPA Wardrobe during the 1952-1953 term is Mrs. G. R. Kowalski, welfare chairman of Willow P-TA. If anyone knows of a space for the facility or has one available, he may contact Mrs. Kowalski, DA 3-2245 or Mrs. M. A. Ross, Belle Haven Wardrobe representative, at DA 3-2902.

"We select the Fourth of July," Mrs. Brainerd went on, "because the anniversary of our independence should make everyone think twice about what independence means and what it takes to keep it.

"You all know where there is a need—a vital, life-giving need. So 'Show your independence — Give your blood'!"

Leaguers who manned the tables and circulated through the crowd were Mrs. Martin B. Clark and Mrs. Robert D. Blood donations themselves may be made when the Bloodmobile visits the Redwood City area July 8 from 3 p. m. to 7 p. m. at Eagles hall and the Menlo Park area at the civic center July 16 from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. and at Burgess park July 25 from 8 a. m. to 12 noon.

Presbyterial Society Honors Council Head

All interested persons in this area are invited to attend the July 14 session of the San Francisco Presbyterial society, which will honor Mrs. William Verne Buchanan of Steubanville, Ohio, president of the National Council of Women's organizations in the Presbyterian church, U. S.

The San Francisco society will meet at 1:30 p. m. in the Calvary Presbyterian church, Arguello and Lake streets.

Mrs. Buchanan, a graduate of Denison university, is serving as vice president of the Presbyterian Synodical society of Ohio, as well as Women's council head. After a brief musical program, she will address the group, following which those present may meet with her.

Fickes' Infant Son Christened Sunday

The 10-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fickes of Menlo Park was christened last Sunday in the Menlo Park Presbyterian church. The name given to the infant was "Raymond Carl Jr."

Mrs. Ann Gilbert is the infant's godmother; the godfather is Jesse Barton.

After the ceremony the Fickes opened the garden of their home for some 100 relatives and later served a buffet dinner. The guest-of-honor, however, slept through the party, appearing in time only to bid his wellwishers "goodbye."

Newlywed Thomas Svorinics On Lake County Honeymoon

Joyce Anita Fleming of Menlo Park and Thomas Anthony Svorinic Jr. of Burlingame were married last Wednesday morning in the First Baptist church of Menlo Park. Joyce is the daughter of the senior Mr. and Mrs. James D. Stewart, 1050 Oakland avenue, and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Svorinic Sr.

The young couple will make their future home in Burlingame when they return from a week's honeymoon in Lake county.

For the "family" wedding, Joyce was dressed in a champagne lace ballerina gown with matching cap trimmed in seed pearls. She carried a cascade of bavardia and fleurs d'amour.

Her sole attendant, Mrs. David J. Sanguinetti (Helen Perry) wore a similar frock of cocoa lace and carried a sweep of pink carnations and bavardia, which matched the color of her accessories.

Best man was James Schlicting, and Dr. Frank Eden performed the ceremony.

Following the wedding, guests were invited to the Menlo Park home of the bride's parents, where banks of white stock, white gladioli and pink and white snapdragons blended their perfumes. For the occasion Mrs. Stewart, the bride's mother, wore a gray silk taffeta dress and white accessories, while the bridegroom's mother donned a beige shantung dress with white accessories.

The new Mrs. Svorinic Jr. is a graduate of Sequoia high school and a member of the Peninsula Ski club, where she met her husband, and was last year crowned their "Queen." She has one stepbrother, James Stewart Jr., who is now stationed in Korea with the army.

The bridegroom, who spent most of World War II with the army in India, is a graduate of San Mateo junior college and City College of San Francisco. He is a building contractor now on the peninsula.

His sister, Mrs. Fred T. Braithwaite, with her husband, Lt. Braithwaite, came from Fort Lewis, Washington, to attend the wedding.

The Portola Valley P-TA is sponsoring an eight-weeks summer recreation program for children of that area, beginning last Tuesday. Included in the session, conducted by Portola parents, will be painting, wood-working, sewing, cooking, creative dancing, games and sports for the younger group; painting, weaving photography, fly-tying, creative dance and sports for the older youngsters.

Registrations, which must be accompanied by parent's signature, will be taken between 9 and 10 a. m. on the morning each group meets.

Mrs. Luman Ney heads the P-TA rec program.

Pioneer MP Family Has New Baby Boy

The Clarence Kavanaughs of 153 Bay road, East Palo Alto, became the parents of a 7 pound 13½ ounce baby son on Sunday, June 29. The boy, whose name is John Lawrence, is the great-grandson of Menlo Park pioneer Moses Francis Kavanaugh.

The original Kavanaugh came to this area when he was 8 months old, and remained on his Menlo Park area farm until he died at the age of 84. The soon-to-be-opened Kavanaugh junior high school has been named for him.

John Lawrence has another relative in Menlo Park—his great-aunt, Gertrude Kavanaugh.

A FISHING VACATION

Following a two-weeks' boating and fishing trip "up north" in Oregon, the Joseph B. Kellys of Menlo Park, with their son, Joe, returned home last Sunday. It seems that the most successful fisherman in the family was Joe Jr., who caught a 12-inch trout, among fish of other dimensions.

At Peninsula School Confab

Applicants for a limited number of scholarships to children of preschool age were considered last week at the regular meeting of the Peninsula school scholarship committee.

The Menlo Park school's new policy limits such a reduction of tuition to the children of staff members and to children of minority races, an action in line with the school's traditional policy of maintaining a representative student body.

Last year more than a third of the youngsters in the first through ninth grades at Peninsula received partial or total scholarships in an effort to attract children of all racial, cultural and economic backgrounds.

Applications for scholarships for the older children, grades one through eight or nine, were also considered at last week's session. Director Jack Shepard pointed out the need for boys to be placed in the second, fourth or sixth grades, girls who will attend the third or fifth grades and children of any level who come from varied racial and or cultural environments and backgrounds.

The scholarship committee agreed to meet again later in the summer to consider additional applications.

Forms and information pertaining to the scholarships can be obtained from the Peninsula school by mail or by telephone. Director Shepard will be available Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the school.

Homecomings and Parties Keep The Summer Season Enlivened

By PROXY

Home again and still so enthralled with their two-weeks' varation that they are already planning one for next year are the Robert Connells of Menlo Park, who with their five-year-old son, Kip, toured the Southwest and looked into various Indian ruins.

Although Kip started the whole idea of Indian ruin-inspecting, his mother and father soon became quite interested, and managed to bring home with them several facts about the 900 to 1100 A.D. constructions. According to Mrs. Connell—who was a bit fazed by the Indian names, "Aigqwirklnethzdkl" and so on—the U. S. Government has just recently acquired the funds to restore the ruins, most of which were originally built of adobe bricks and rocks, and segmented into rooms.

The Cerebral Palsey drive two weekends ago was really a "heart-tugger" . . . 14-year-old Billy Keys collected $90 from the Linfield Oaks area to donate to the hard-hitting C. P. emcees. When Bill handed over the money, he dedicated the contribution to Kim Francis, whose father, Vincent Francis, is general manager of KGO-TV, and who, for very special reasons, chairmanned the Cerebral Palsey "telethon".

A double scoop birthday party was dished up for the Kenneth Fayre family recently, when the Fayre's two children, Sandy, 6, and Kenny, 5, celebrated their respective birth dates at their grandmother's (Mrs. Chauncey Needham's) home in San Mateo.

The affair, participated in by approximately 30 children and 20 adults, included swimming, luncheon and two birthday cakes. Sandy's cake—as befitting her femininity—was large and white and covered with roses, while Kenny's was chocolate and sported cowboy decorations.

Six-year-old (and a half) Sandy's birthday was really in December, but chicken pox kept her from enjoying it properly then.

Charles and Betsy Spring of Sandhill road took advantage of last weekend's balmy weather to hold a Saturday night dance on their badminton court—well sprinkled with wax for the occasion. Rows of Japanese lanterns were hung across the patio, and guests were provided with two barbeque pits to warm themselves by.

Among those attending the party were the Russ Colliers, Richard Lawrences, Robert Haids, Robert Taylors, Jack Donnelans, Hans Roths, Doug Hugmanicks, Jack Robertsons, Fred Forsmans, Bud Grasses and Gordon Ewigs.

By way of celebration (?) of his daughter Martha Fern's second birthday last Sunday, Proctor Jones bought his family a fire engine, replaced the ladder with board seats, installed Don McLean as "wheel man", and proceeded to astound bypassers on the Alameda de las Pulgas. Attire for this novel vehicle—English shorts and a flourescent cap . . .

One of the highlights of the Fourth activities at the Menlo Circus club was the junior intra-club swimming meet . . . Harlow Rothert Jr. and Sr. swam off with honors in the father-son division . . . Sue Hill (as substitute mother) and Susan White won the mother-daughter race . . . young Katie Mahaney placed first in the life-jacket tourney . . .

Something new was tried for club diving this year; the smaller children were judged on a point basis for plunging from the pool edge. Bruce Connable, Jimmy Niven, Jimmy Mack and "Doc" Davis won place ribbons in this event.

The costumes, of courne, were the "stoppers" . . . Jimmy Niven, a very boy-like boy, came dressed as "Miss Circus Club of 1953", and actually surprised many there when he doffed his bathing cap to reveal a crew cst hnderneath . . . Marvin Wood posed as "Moira Shearer" (or unreasonable facsimile) in his fluffy ballerina skirt . . . The Harold Connable family paraded last, and created some havoc with their red-white-and-blue costumes covered with "I Like Ike" buttons; also banners . . . while the Shoemaker family posed as cannibals (Betty Shoemaker's butcher had done a bit of eyebrow-raising earlier when she indicated a preference for "symetrical bones with notches at the end" and no explanation).

All awards this year were made by microphone at the family dinner . . . this innovation appealed to the children greatly. Another feature of the dinner was the appearance of the clown, Lester Bode.

Cookes Hit Heat Wave On Trip Through South

Home in time for the Fourth of July activities were the Clinton C. Cooke Jr. family, 521 Windsor drive, who had spent a month motoring across country to visit relatives in Tennessee and Oklahoma.

The Cookes, including children Carolyn and Jimmy, traveled along the southern route, and were caught in the midst of the recent heat wave

PEO Bureau Sets Meeting

The Peninsula Reciprocity bureau of P. E. O. will hold a luncheon meeting tomorrow at 12 noon in the Stanford Union. A business meeting in the Women's clubhouse will follow, and a musical program for 2 p. m. has been scheduled after that.

All unaffiliates in this area are urged to attend the session.

For the past two months, plans have been underway to form a Menlo Park-Atherton chapter of the sorority to take care of unaffiliated members in the locality, not under the wing of Palo Alto or Redwood Ctiy chapters.

The need for a Menlo Park-Atherton group was pointed up in May at the state P. E. O. convention held in San Jose. It was then stressed that not only have unaffiliated members moved into the area to live, but other members have set up temporary residence here, while doing graduate work at Stanford university.

The Reciprocity bureau of P. E. O., which holds regular monthly meetings—often at Marie Antoinette in Menlo Park—is comprised of one elected representative from each sorority chapter dotted along the Peninsula from South San Francisco to Mountain View. The bureau serves to coordinate the various local chapters.

The P. E. O. sorority—now an international body — was inaugurated many years ago on the campus of a midwestern college—it was, in fact, the second sorority established in this country. However, P. E. O. left the campus, and now has become a solely alumnae organization, with two aims—educational and philanthropic.

The sorority sponsors a girls' college—Cottey—in the Midwest, and has also established a loan fund for girls wishing to attend any college or university of their choice. In addition, the organization supports a home in Alhambra for older women who are P. E. O. members, and who wish to spend their retiring years with their "sisters."

Hammond Organ Club Sets Atherton Meet

Other members participating on the program will be Mrs. Paul A. Vautier of San Francisco, and Jane Servente of San Francisco.

Roy Burns, secretary, of Albany and San Francisco, extends an invitation to all persons interested in the Hammond Organ club membership to attend this meeting. Members are either organ players, or members interested in organ programs. You can contact Mrs. Serventi, JU 5-8041, in San Francisco or the hostess—EM 6-3149 for further particulars.

Other members assisting the hosts on the meeting arrangements are Mr. and Mrs. Dean Jones of Menlo Park, Miss Lotus Ivory of Menlo Park and Mrs. Lollie Isaacson of Redwood City.

McCarthys Observe 'Gathering of Clan'

Mr. and Mrs. Martin McCarthy observed a "gathering of the clan" last Sunday in their Oak Grove avenue home. Among those who dropped in during the day were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Black of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nash of San Carlos and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crane with their daughter Helen and Vincent Beardsley.

Crane was recently retired from the Shell Oil company, with whom he had been affiliated for 35 years. The Cranes are now living in a newly-bought home in Los Altos.

Vera Stobie Elected New Legion Auxiliary President at Tuesday Night's MP Meeting

The new leaders of Menlo Park's American Legion auxiliary were elected unanimously Tuesday night. Vera Stobie headed the roster of officers as president for 1952-1953.

Also elected were Margaret Rosberg, first vice president; Elsie Antipa, second vice president; Kathy Gerwig, secretary-treasurer; Frances Maples, Marie Damoth and Katherine Brewer, executive board.

The installation date is, as yet, tentative.

In addition, two delegates and two alternates were named to represent the local group at the American Legion state convention to be held August 2 through August 6 at Fresno. Ethel Casaretto and Vera Stobie are the delegates, and Margaret Rosberg and Frances Maples, the alternates.

This week's meeting for the auxiliary was held in the home of Katherine Brewer.

EXCHANGE DINNER

The Exchangerettes, wives of Menlo Park Exchange club members, have been invited to bring along their husbands July 19 at 7 p. m. for a gala dinner at the Chukker in San Mateo.

CCPT Board Considers Emergency School Bill

The problem of state aid for emergency school building—so vital to this area—was under discussion this week at the July 7 to 10 conference of the Board of Managers, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, in Los Angeles.

The meeting, which is by way of a planning session for the new "regime," also comprised ertra committee meetings and an orientation workshop, as well as a plan to reach the decision on the school aid initiative amendment, increasing State aid for school operating costs from $120 to $180 for the average daily attendance.

Among other measures supported by the CCPT is the multi-use room, an "economy measure to take the place of special rooms, and to permit a well-rounded school program."

AFTERMATH

After the election, the clerks work furiously to count the ballots and get the returns as quickly as possible. The results are announced, and there is wild rejoicing in some camps while quiet disappointment reigns in others.

The remainder of the time at Girls' State is devoted to the performance of the various duties attached to each office. The Assembly and Senate make laws, the treasurer prepares a report for the governor.

In this practical way the girls learn about government in all its phases. The American Legion (which sponsors Boys' State) and the Legion auxiliary (which supports Girls' State) are doing a great work in teaching girls and boys the principals of American democracy.

Menlo Motors No. 1, Winners in First Half Of Softball Loop, Meet Firemen Friday

An important Menlo Park Recreation softball league game is slated for tomorrow night when Menlo Motors No. 1, defending champs for two years running and victor in the loop's first half play, which concluded last Thursday, meets the potent Menlo Firemen.

In the other games tomorrow Hare, Brewer and Kelly real estate tangles with the National Federation of Federal Employees nine at 7:30 p. m.

The second half was opened last night with the Firemen downing Menlo Motors No. 2 handily.

Final first half standings were as follows: Menlo Motors No. 1, 5-1; Hare, Brewer and Kelly real estate, 4-2; Menlo Firemen, 4-2; National Federation of Federal Employees (formerly Vet's hospital), 2-4; Menlo Motors No. 2, 0-6.

The Firemen and HB&K cut each others throats in the first half by splitting a pair of tilts, whereas if either team had taken both games there would have been a deadlock for first place, forcing the issue to a playoff.

A Firemen rally in the first of the seventh overcame a two-run deficit in the first game and got them a 10-6 victory while HB&K scored nine runs in the third and fourth innings of the second contest after the Firemen had tallied seven in a big second frame.

They added one more in the sixth and won, 10-7. The contest was called at the end of the sixth because of the curfew, therefore halting one of the Firemen's now-well-known seventh inning rallies.

D. Cesarin continued to top the league in hitting with an unbelievable .813 average. Picking up three-for-three in his last two outings the husky former professional and Sequoia high school star made it 13 hits in 16 attempts in six games thus far. He has pounded five doubles, a triple and a homerun, therefore better than half of his hits are extra-base smashes.

The only three times that the Fireman has failed to get on were on lofty and hard hit flies to the outfield, just a little too high.

He banged two long blows to speedy Dave Rosencrantz in center field in his first outing against HB&K and lofted a high, long fly to right in his first time at bat against Menlo Motors No. 1.

Last year's batting leader, Vince Del Pozzo, has yet to find the range as he is hitting .333 after slipping by degrees from a .500 mark at the outset of the season. He won the trophy last year with a torrid .588 mark, besting teammate Harold Hass by a few points. Hass is clubbing only .250 this season.

LOW MARKS

Ttt pitching marks are still a little anemic, although Vern Grafton of Menlo Motors No. 1 has fanned 19 batters in 21 innings, nowhere near the former records of "Bullet" Bill Taylor of the same squad.

First half indications seem to predict another hitting league, just as last year. The best hurling effort thus far has been a three hitter by Gus Chavalas of HB&K, although Gary Herman of the realtors, Lou Bellomi of the Firemen and Grafton have each tossed a four hitter.

A doubleheader is scheduled for next Tuesday with HB&K tangling with Menlo Motors No. 1 in an important tilt at 7:30 p. m. and NFFE meeting Menlo Motors No. 2 in the nine o'clock nightcap.

A single game Thursday will pit HB&K against Menlo Motors No. 2 at 8:30 p. m.

Signup Deadline For Swim Meet Is Monday P.M.

Registration for the Menlo Park recreation department - Kiwanis - sponsored swim meet for all youngsters residing in the Menlo Park Fire District, July 19 and 20 at Burgess park pool, closes at 5 p. m. on Monday.

Issuing the reminder, Warren Spieker, in charge of arrangements for the event, also detailed some of the plans for the swimmers, 5 through 18 years of age, who may participate.

The first day of the meet will be given over to the time trials, Spieker pointed out. These will commence at 10 a. m. and will continue as long as necessary.

The meet finals will be held on Sunday, July 20, beginning at 1 p. m. At that time participants will vie, in age groups, for prizes in freestyle, backstroke, breaststroke and diving events.

Five prizes will be awarded for each event. These will include a cup award for first place winners; medals for second and third place winners and ribbon awards for those who place fourth and fifth.

There will be no admission charge to the meet; the public is invited to attend.

Spieker also pointed out that entry blanks may be obtained at Burgess pool from Pool Manager Tommy O'Neill.

Thus far, he added, about 40 youngsters have signed for participation in the event, most of them o fthe younger age groups. But, he adde, "there's always room for more."

Folk Dance Group Sets Party Event

First party to be held by the Menlo Park recreation department's advanced folk dance group is to be held Saturday, July 12, from 8 p. m. to 12 m. at Burgess park gym.

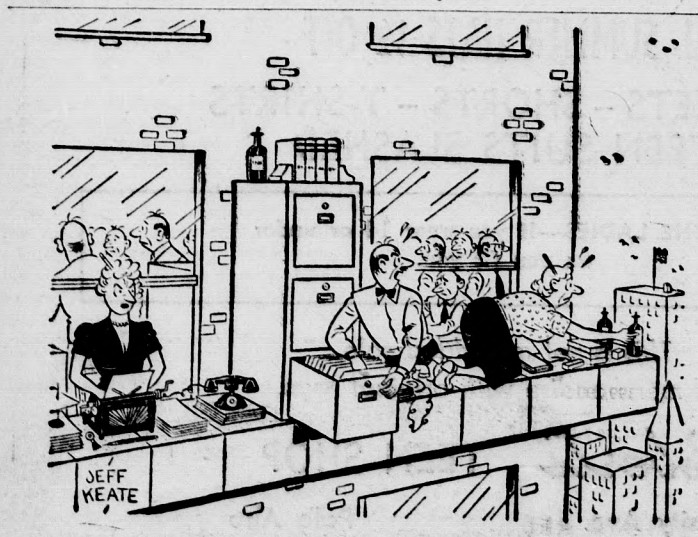

The inaugural party is to be followed by others, to be held the second Saturday of each month.

The class in under instruction of Virgil Morton and an exhibition will be presented as part of the evening's entertainment.

Intermediate and advanced folk dances will be featured, an drefreshments will be served.

NEW BOARD OFFICER

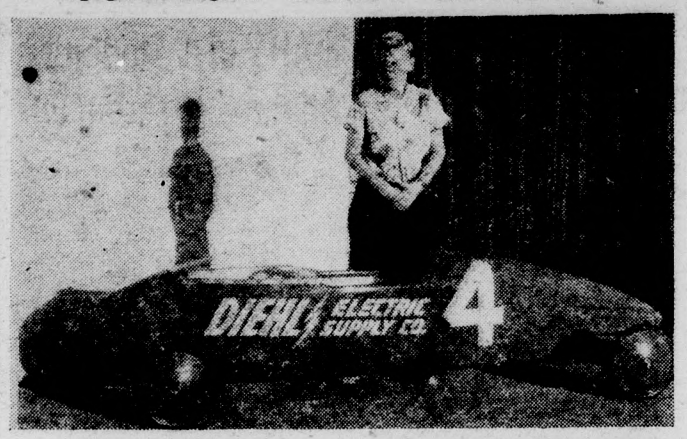

Luman F. Ney, newly-elected member of the Portola School District board of trustees, was elected presiding officer of that body at its reorganizational meeting last week. He replaces John Duzanica, who remains on the board.

'SOAPBOX' DERBY ENTRANT

RICHARD PIERCE of Menlo Park stands in front of the coaster he is planning to enter in Sunday's "soapbox" derby, to be held along East Lake Merced boulevard, San Francisco.

Area Lads Enter 'Soapbox' Derby

Thirteen-year-old Richie Pierce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Pierce, 640 Windsor drive, will enter this Sunday's "soapbox" coaster derby, scheduled to start at 1:20 p. m. along the East Lake Merced boulevard in San Francisco.

Richie's coaster, representing approximately 200 faher-and-son hours, is being sponsored by Diehl Electric supplies, San Jose. According to Richie's mother, the building of the vehicle has brought her husband and son closer together during the past few months—it was even worth the solitude of "coaster widowdom."

Another local boy, Lee Donahee, from Ladera, is also planning to enter the contest. He and Richie, to date, are the only known contestants from this area, according to Richie.

CONTESTANT

'TWIRLER' — Fourteen-year-old Margaret Goodlive of Menlo Park will participate in Saturday's All-Cities official N.B.T.A. National Open Majorette Championship tourney to be held in Los Angeles.

Cubs Empty Buckskin For Palseyed Children

Giving credit where credit is due was the happy duty of Mrs. Gabriele Holt, den mother of a local Cub Scout group.

She reported that "because the den mothers thought the boys should not go around to collect money (the boys are only around eight years old), the Cubs of Pack 66, Den 4, known as "The Boxer Den," donated all the money they had in their buckskins for the Palsied Children fund.

'Field Days' Events At Vets' Hospital

Peninsula Veterans of Foreign Wars units will join efforts July 27, to present their fifth annual field day at the Menlo Park veterans' hospital.

The affair is to be presented under the direction of members of the VA hospital staff, with the several participating VFW units in charge of the various events.

On July 4, patients at the hospital events as foot races, tug-o-war conparticipated in the hospital's own 26th annual "field day" event. Such tests, barrel boxing, bicycle racing and similar events were featured.

Dick Brown tops the regulars on scoring with 259 points and a 10-point average. The team scoring with averages in parentheses, is as follows: Brown 259 (10.0), Phil Knight 251 (7.4), Bob Adams 230 (8.0), Dennis Anderson 173 (5.4), Dennis Thomas 112 (3.5), Mario Generelli 79 (19.8), Steve West 70 (3.2), Barry Young 38 (12.7), and Jerry Young 21 (7.0).

Master Plan's Parks and Recreation Section Passes First Test; Other Locations Offered

Sections of the city's proposed master plan dealing with "parks and recreation" passed their first test with flying colors, at the Menlo Park planning commission's hearing Monday night.

Members of the audience agreed that keeping up with the need for recreation facilities in the city was a vital necessity; only portion of the program which was questioned was the proposed location of a proposed "neighborhood-type" park in Belle Haven.

Whether private citizens should continue working for a recreation building of their own, before the master plan is finally adopted, was also discussed. The planners advised that such efforts be continued.

About 50 persons were present in the audience at the time of the hearing. Many, however, attended the commission meeting on other items of business.

At the conclusion of the hearing City Planning Consultant Harold Wise conferred with members of the Belle Haven Improvement association, preliminary to setting a meeting between himself and representatives of that group's executive board and recreation committee.

The Belle Haven group has called for consideration of other sites in their area, rather than the 7.06-acre tract in the vicinity of Bayshore highway, Market place and Del Norte avenue suggested by Wise in the master plan report.

No one in the audience spoke on the proposed 5-acre recreation park called for in the master plan, to be built facing Oakdell drive.

REVIEW

The hearing opened with a recapitulation, by Wise, of the surveys which led to the adoption of the proposals contained in the master plan; the latter calling for development of 5-acre neighborhood parks in North Palo Alto and facing Oawdell drive and the Belle Haven facility to supplement existing parks and playgrounds.

The planning consultant explained that about 20 per cent of the city's population is under 6 years of age; in Belle Haven, where there are 3.9 persons per family, 30 per cent of the population is under 6 years of age.

To be of maximum usefulness, he explained, parks must be within a half mile of the homes they are to serve. The surveys showed that about 4000 people will live in such radii.

Burgess and Nealon parks would be developed to fulfill the function of "neighborhood-type" parks for the parts of the city in which they are situated; they would also be developed as "district" parks with a larger service radius, and Burgess park would continue to be developed as a community center to accommodate about 30,000 persons of all age groups.

"Community buildings" on all park sites were described as "a necessary part of the plan" by Wise, who added that each park should be developed only after consultation with area residents to determine particular needs.

Regional parks, such as Flood park, are out of the city's jurisdiction and cannot be considered in the plans, he pointed out.

TAKES FLOOR

Thomas Mullen, 1303 Windermere avenue, speaking for the Belle Haven Improvement association, explained that members of the group which he represented felt an area at the end of Terminal way would be more suitable than the one suggested by the planning consultant, since the latter was near Bayshore highway and also close to a proposed shopping center.

Wise said he had considered the Terminal site, but had felt that it was too far from the center of Belle Haven to be of maximum use.

Mullen said that he was sure "the majority of residents in our area are 100 per cent behind recreation. Location is the only thing." He added that the organization he represented had heard no objection to the location of a proposed smaller park, on city property across Hetch Hetchy way from Belle Haven school.

William C. Buckleman of 205 Terminal way explained that there were three duplexes on the site shown in the master plan report.

Wise said that this demonstrates the need for immediate action: the land was vacant when the original surveys were made last year.

Discussion then turned to the North Palo Alto site.

John R. Chaffet, officer of the North Palo Alto Residents' association, said,

"We can't wait 'til the playground goes in." He explained that he had contacted mothers of small children in the area, and had learned of their approval.

He was seconded by Mrs. Paul Boyer, 317 Pope street.

ASKS ADVICE

Mrs. Clifford Mott, 1044 Sonoma avenue, member of the Willow recreation association, which is currently raising funds for a proposed recreation building on the Willow school grounds, asked if the planning commission thought it would be wise to continue trying to raise funds "since some people feel the city will put in the facilities anyhow."

Commissioners pointed out that they didn't know when the plan would go in; a $227,250 bond issue would have to be passed first.

"If you have a bird almost in hand you'd better grab it," Consultant Wise advised.

Others who spoke included Mrs. Margaret Schmidt, secretary of the Belle Haven association, 1122 Berkeley avenue; William F. Groshart, 1052 Berkeley avenue; Clarence Boquin, 1340 Modoc avenue; Henry Jacquemet, president of the association, 1340 Sevier avenue; George Curry, 209 Market place and Mrs. E. W. Sievert, 391 Terminal way.

City Recreation Director Fred Parsons, and other members of the recreation commission besides Mullen, were also present but were not called on to speak.

Hearing on Rezoning Santa Margarita Aug. 4

Request for hearing on the proposed resubdivision of a parcel of land at the eastern end of Santa Margarita avenue will be the subject of a public hearing before the Menlo Park Planning commission Aug. 4.

The request was made by W. S. Melville, who asked that the lots, presently zoned for single-family dwellings, be rezoned for apartment houses.

According to the city planning consultant, the proposed master plan calls for apartment houses in the area.

OBITUARY
Peter Luscombe

Funeral services were held last Thursday for Peter Luscombe, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Luscombe of 592 Olive street, who drowned Wednesday noon after he stepped into a hole while wading at Lake Lagunita, Stanford.

The lad was wading in the company of a playmate, Jack Albee, 10, of 758 Olive street. The latter boy made an unsuccessful attempt to pull his companion from the morass while Stanford Fire Department firemen were being summoned to the scene.

In spite of the efforts at rescuscitation made by the firemen, the lad was pronounced dead on arrival at Palo Alto hospital.

Besides his parents, Peter is survived by a brother, Noel, and a sister, Jane. He is also survived by three grandparents.

Funeral services were private, and were conducted from the Roller and Hapgood chapel in Palo Alto, the Rev. Fordyce Eastburn officiating.

Interment was at Alta Mesa Memorial park.

Stern Estate To Be Retained

At the request of Mrs. Barbara Hamilton of San Francisco, purchaser of the old Stern mansion in Atherton, the Atherton planning commission Tuesday night considered the retention of the old residence, in addition to the 3¾ acres of ground and a glass house which covers an area of 1000 square feet.

Sale of the mansion, for many years the home of philanthropist Mrs. Louis Stern, was announced last week by Dick Wright, Menlo Park realtor. According to Wright at that time the transaction involved "more than $100,000."

The large glass-or-greenhouse was originally moved by the Sterns from the 1915 Chicago Exposition. The structure is steam-heated, rises as high as 14 feet in one part, and is "outfitted" with rock gardens, pools and fountains.

John M. Noelke, associate of Dick Wright, has told of another Atherton estate to be kept intact — the Arhur Hill mansion and grounds at 1 Camino al Lago. Purchaser of the Hill place is H. P. Kopf of El Paso, Texas, who has already begun restoration and renovation of the Atherton property.

Homfeld Ends Session As 'Workshop' Mentor

Menlo Park School District Superintendent Mel Homfeld is to return this weekend from a teaching stint at Oregon College of Education at Monmouth, where he has been serving as an instructor to a summer "workshop" session during the past month.

He will be on hand in time to attend next Monday night's meeting of the school district's board of trustees, whic is to convene at 7:30 p. m. at Central school.

NO EXIT

Vehicles that use the parking area between the Foster's Freeze stand and a delicatessen on Oak Grove avenue henceforth will not be allowed to enter Oak Grove directly, the city council voted Tuesday night. On the recommendation of Police hief George Potter, the no-exit rule was established primarily to protect pedestrians. Potter pointed out that a 78-year-old man had been struck by an automobile at this spot some months ago.

Woodside Panel Named by Tormey

A five-man committee from the Woodside area will meet soon to name the replacement for William Wallace Mein Jr., who is resigning his seat on the Greersburg School District board.

Mein's unexpired term on the body, which oversees policy for Woodside school, is scheduled to terminate in 1953.

The nominating committee comprises the two remaining school board members and three citizens-at-large. The nominators are:

King Harris and Edgar L. Norris, both from the school board.

William Wilke, superintendent of the Stanley Harris estate, member of the Woodside Fire department, director of the San Mateo county Farm bureau and active supporter of Boy Scout activities in the Woodside area.

Ben Eastman, president of the Eastman Equipment company in San Jose and San Francisco. Eastman has three children attending Woodside school, and has lived in the area all of his life. In addition, he is a member of the Olympic club and of the Woodside P-TA.

Mrs. Ruby Ralston, past president of the 17th district CCPT and second vice president of the state board, CPT. She has been a member of the parent-teacher state body since 1938. Mrs. Ralston heads the five-man nominating committee.

Women's Group Calls For Voting Changes

The South San Mateo county council of Republican women recently formulated two resolutions calling for lengthening of polling hours and change of the traditional wording of California ballots, and forwarded copies of the resoolutions to California Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan.

The resolution calling for extension of polling hours asks that they be left open an additional hour in the evening, closing at 8 p. m. instead of 7 p. m. This will be of service to commuters in this and other areas, who might not reach their home precincts much before the usual closing time.

The second resolution cites the wording, "vote for two (or whatever the prescribed number of candidates may be)," as possibly open to misinterpretation. Suggested wording would be "vote for not more than" the given number of candidates.

MP Motorcyclist Hurt in Crash

Robert Watkins, 29, Menlo Park motorcyclist and his passenger, Ruth Lewis of Redwood City were treated at Sequoia hospital last Wednesday night for scalp wounds and lacerations, following their collision with an automobile driven by a Palo Alto high school student.

The accident, which occurred at El Camino Real and Wilburn avenue in Atherton, resulted when the 16-year-old student slowed the car she was operating to make a right turn. Watkins said that he applied his brakes, but not in time to avoid colliding with the rear end of the automobile.

Both automobiles were towed away.

GETS CONTRACT

The Menlo Park Sanitary District last week awarded a $6400 contract to the Hayward Baker company for construction of a 15-inch sewer in the Stanford Creek 3 subdivision, in west Menlo Park. The subdivider is to pay part of the cost of the total installation.

MOTHER IS HOUSEGUEST

Mr. and Mrs. James Mack of Menlo Park are entertaining Mr. Mack's mother, Mrs. Mansfield Mack, who has been visiting since the Fourth of July.

BAY ROAD ACTION

A no-parking zone on the southerly side of Bay road between Del Norte avenue and the entrance to Flood park was established by the city council Tuesday night.

HEUTON BABY

A daughter was born July 1 to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heuton, 648 Harvard avenue.

HEAD DRIVE

CITY CHAIRMAN—Proctor Jones, Los Trancos Woods, has been named Woodside drive chairman for San Mateo county Community Chest's forthcoming fund campaign, it was announced this week by Graham G. Adams, co-chairman in charge of the Chest's efforts in the south county. Jones, a tax consultant with offices in Redwood City, is a veteran of World War II and has been active in county Republican party affairs.

$4000 Fire Laid To Short Circuit

An estimated $4000 damage resulted from a fire which last week occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Curnow, 202 Santa Margarita avenue. The fire, which broke out in an attic room, was apparently caused by short-circuited wiring.

The blaze was reported at about 8 p. m. July 1, and attracted large numbers of onlookers, firemen and police agreed. Members of the Curnow family were in the yard at the time the fire was first noticed, and no one was injured.

Curnow said the damage, confined to the roof and ceilings of three bedrooms at the rear of the dwelling, was covered by insurance.

Edmund, Coiffeur, this week opened in new and larger quarters at 1026 Alma street, a few doors north of the Menlo Square location where the salon opened for business just a year ago.

Proprietor Edmund Lind declares that his new shop offers twice the facilities of his former place of business and has allowed the addition of a new staff members, with more new assistants expected to be added soon.

Besides Lind, the staff now includes Mr. Miller, Miss Margaret, Miss Carmen, and Miss Jessie.

Decor of the new shop is keyed to the pastels which highlight the walls, each the work of Lind himself.

Roofing Company Office Is Approved

The city planning commission Monday night recommended the issuance of a use permit to the Standard Roofing and Construction company, to operate a warehouse and office at 550 El Iamino Real.

J. R. Ferguson, representing the company, explained that his firm intended to landscape the property, and to remove oil tanks and signs now on the site, El Camino Real at Middle avenue. The establishment was formerly a service station.

City planning consultant H. F. Wise said the proposed site was in the proper zone, under the proposed master plan.

An unusual display of color is found in obsidian taken from the Warner Range near Davis Creek in Modoc county.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS

Bursting Gardens Means Vegetable Canning Time Is Here Again

By LYNN CHAMBERS

GARDENS ARE BURSTING, literally, with their produce, and the canning cupboard is undoubtedly empty after yielding meal after meal of health-giving vegetables over a period of many months. It's time for canning, again!

How did you come out on your supplies for the past year? Too many cans of green beans, or not enough? Used more corn than usual? Or did the peas disappear rapidly?

Needs may vary slightly from year to year, but you should take an inventory each year at the beginning of the season and have some idea of the amount of vegetables you need to put up. Take into consideration increased appetite needs of growing children or perhaps relatives spending more time at your table. Only in this way can you gauge with any accuracy the amount you'll need to can.

Take Time to Get Ready For Vegetable Canning

It may take you a day or even two days to get ready to can some of your vegetables because all equipment must be ready, as well as in order once you start. Here are some things that must be done in advance:

Wash jars and covers in hot soapy water and rinse thoroughly. Check jars for cracks and nicks and use only those which are in perfect condition.

See that you have enough covers as well as rubbers if you're using the type which the manufacturer recommends.

Check the pressure cooker or boiling water both to ascertain that everything is in good operating order.

You'll need also utensils for holding the vegetables during the preparation, large trays or colanders or kettles. If you're going to use a hot pack, then have a utensil large enough for the pre-cooking.

Other items which you'll need include the following: wide-mouth funnel for filling jars, tea kettle for hot water, salt, measuring spoons, towels and dish cloths, pot holders and newspapers for setting the jars on for cooling.

Select Young Produce For Best Results

Plan to choose only those vegetables which are young and which have grown quickly. It's better to use vegetables which can be picked as clean as possible, as very dirty ones may have microorganisms on them that are difficult to remove.

Try not to handle too many vegetables all at one time. Work must proceed rapidly or bacteria develop while the food isn't packed into the jars, especially when the food is precooked and packed hot. Bacteria develops rapidly between temperatures of 105°F. to 150°F.

Clean the vegetables well under plenty of running water. Most of them are prepared just as they are when you're cooking them for the table.

To prevent flat-sour, can these vegetables as soon as possible after picking: asparagus, peas, beans and corn.

When sizes vary greatly, it may be wise to sort the vegetables so that the contents of each jar are as uniform as possible. You'll be able to get better processing in cases of this nature.

Fill canner only with as many jars as it will hold easily, leaving space in-between the jars for proper circulation of the steam.

High Pressure Cooking

Corn, because of its high starch content, needs high temperature processing to can without spoilage.

HAMBURGERS RISE to deluxe rating when they have a rich tomato sauce. To prepare them, shape 4 patties from a mixture of 1 pound ground beef, 1 small onion chopped, 1 egg, ½ cup soft bread cubes, and salt and pepper. Cook till done in shortening in a skillet. Put hamburgers on a platter. Then pour 1 can (1¼ cups) of condensed tomato soup into the skillet, stir to loosen browned bits of meat. When sauce is hot, pour over patties.

"A-TISKET, A-TASKET", go pack the picnic basket and get ready to celebrate the month of July. A dish you'll be glad to have in the basket is pork and beans mixed with browned chunks of frankfurters. You can prepare the beans over the campfire. First brown 2 or 3 sliced frankfurters and some chopped onion in shortening in a skillet. Then stir in a can of beans (1-pound size) plus ½ cup tomato ketchup and 1½ teaspoons mustard. Simmer about 15 minutes to blend the flavors. One can of beans makes enough for 3 people. Count on extra active appetites.

COOL AS A CUCUMBER is the way you'll feel when you keep meals completely simple in the summertime. And they'll be big-hit meals with your family if you star such favorites as soups and salads. Give them brimming bowls of chicken noodle soup; and for salad have a luscious combination of tuna, chopped celery and stuffed olives on lettuce. A fittingly fine dessert to go with this menu is luscious red raspberries poured over plain cake squares (made with a mix); top with vanilla ice cream.

Modern Etiquette

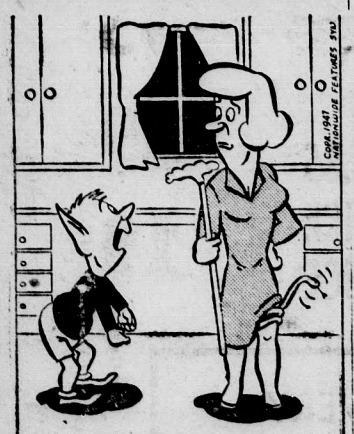

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. What is the correct way to wear a senior class ring?

A. There is no established rule, but most of these rings are worn on the third finger of the left hand, and they are correctly worn so that the initials are upside down to the wearer.

Canning Time . . .

The same is true of greens, but, in this case because heat penetrates the layers of leaves with difficulty. For both of these use 15 pounds pressure.

To can corn, kernel style, simmer ears of corn in water 4 to 5 minutes. Cut from the cob, but do not scrape the cob. Weigh corn and add ½ the weight in water. Add 1 teaspoon salt and 2 teaspoons sugar for each quart. Mix well, heat to boiling and pack at once into jars. Process 80 minutes for quarts, 75 minutes for pints.

For cream-style corn, remove corn, uncooked from the cob by cutting through grains and pressing out with the back of a knife. Add water, salt and sugar and proceed as above.

To can greens, wash, remove stems and imperfect leaves. Simmer until leaves melt, then pack into jars and loosen center with a knife. Process 65 minutes for quarts, 60 minutes for pints.

Here are Directions For Beans, Peas

For canning green beans, prepare as for table, removing ends and cutting into lengths. Cover with boiling water and cook 3 to 4 minutes. Pack hot, process at 10 pounds for 35 minutes for quarts.

Only small lima beans should be canned, large ones dried. Wash beans, then shell. Cook in water 5 minutes. Pack, add salt and process 55 minutes at 10 pounds pressure.

Only tender very young peas should be canned. Shell, discard any imperfect peas, then wash and cook for 5 minutes in boiling water. Pack, with salt, into jars, adding boiling water to fill. Process, 45 minutes at 10 pounds pressure for pints.

Carrots, Beets Are Easily Canned

Only small beets should be used for canning. Wash thoroughly, cut off tops, leaving about 1-inch of stem. Cook in boiling water 15 minutes, remove skins and add salt and boiling water when packing in jars. Process quarts 35 minutes at 10 pounds pressure.

To can carrots, wash, then scrape off skin; or, cook until skins loosen and slip off. Pack into jars, add salt, fill with boiling water, then process 35 minutes for quarts at 10 pounds pressure.

Asparagus should be cut in lengths to fit the container after being thoroughly washed and all sand removed. Cover closely to precook for 3 to 4 minutes. Pack in jars, add salt and boiling water. Process 30 minutes at 10 pounds pressure for pints, 35 minutes for quarts.

HOW CAN I?

By LYNN CARTER

Q. How can I remove cigarette stains from the fingers?

A. Rub with powdered pumice or a cut lemon. Then wash the hands in soapsuds, rinse and dry thoroughly, and rub a good hand lotion into the skin.

Q. How can I make a substitute for cream?

A. An excellent substitute for cream can be made by beating three eggs to a stiff froth. Then gradually pour over them boiling tea until the thickness of cream is obtained.
